About This Recovery Home

A Father's Vision: York Chester Recovery House is sober living for men in Gastonia, North Carolina, a certified 25-bed house on West Second Avenue in downtown Gastonia, just west of Charlotte. It was the first North Carolina home in the Vanderburgh network. One room is private; 24 beds are shared. This is a working house: men are expected to find a job, and 30 days sober is preferred. The building has a parking lot, laundry, WiFi and a computer station, and rides around town can be booked with GoGastonia, the on-demand van service that replaced the city buses in July 2024. A Father's Vision runs York Chester alongside its homes in nearby cities: A Father's Vision: South End Recovery House for women in Charlotte and A Father's Vision: Kannapolis Recovery House for men in Kannapolis. The house meets on Sundays, with the schedule listing 1 pm and 8 pm. A man who is employed attends three recovery meetings a week; one still looking for work attends five. Curfew starts at 10 pm and moves to midnight after 30 days. Drug screening is random, and a House Mentor lives on site.

This recovery house is operated by A Father's Vision LLC under the leadership of Elonzo Stroud, a Recovery Coach Professional (RCP). Certified by the North Carolina Association of Recovery Residences (NCARR).
